

International Recognition and Ace Bird Triumph

Across the five race series, Poi's combined results earned her two of the most coveted distinctions in the competition:

- 1st Ace Bird Award
- 3rd Ace Bird Award

Achieving both 1st and 3rd Ace Bird in a single international one loft event is exceptionally rare and instantly positions Poi's breeding and management program among the most respected in the global community.

A Milestone for Australian Pigeon Racing

For Australia, Poi's results represent another significant milestone in our continued development as a serious force in the international pigeon racing sphere. Although the Australian racing community is relatively small compared to its Asian and European counterparts, performances like this prove that our fanciers possess both the technical knowledge and the breeding standards necessary to excel in global arenas.

Poi's achievements also highlight the growing multicultural strength of the Australian pigeon racing community. As an Australian woman of Thai heritage succeeding in a sport traditionally dominated by men, she stands as an inspiration to both established fanciers and newcomers alike. Her success reflects the evolving diversity of pigeon racing in Australia and the important contributions of women to the sport's future.

Impact on the Breeding World

With outstanding results over distances ranging from 220 km to 500 km, Poi's bloodlines have demonstrated speed, stamina, and consistency — qualities that international buyers and breeders pay close attention to. Her performance is expected to spark new interest in Australian bred pigeons within Asian and European markets.

This achievement is not only a personal triumph but a moment of significance for Australia's racing pigeon community. It reinforces that, from our shores, fanciers can — and do — compete with the world's best. Poi has not only represented Australia with distinction but elevated our nation's standing across the global racing landscape.

Australia is proud — and the world is watching.
